TUBSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 19.

HYSTERIA.-Hysteria is by no m ans confined to women, for one of the worst attacks which I have witnessed occurred in a man. This gentleman one day found he had lost his all, and on returning home, he broame the viotim of laughing and orying, until sheer exhaus tion brought an end to the attack. This was quite involuntary. But it might be remarked that even in hysteria such a thing as fashion prevails, showing that a certain nower of restraint may be used. When I was a boy hysteria was the fashion; and if during conversation any remark was made to touch a lady's sensibilities, she would clinch her hands, make a wry face, her eyelids would undergo a rapid vibration, she would give a sob or two, and sink from her chair. The cure was accomplished by throwing cold water over her face; and if this encroached on her neck or wetted her dress, the cure was very endden and complete. During church the content of the content of the cure was very endden and complete. During church the content of the content of the cure was very endden and complete. During church the content of the content of the cure was very endden and complete. During church the content of the content of the cure was very endden and complete. During church the content of the content of the cure was very endden and complete. This gentleman one day found he had lost his very sudden and complete. Daring church service it was the usual practice to have a young lady carried on ; but I think as a rule she belonged to an interior cass, whose kind of work during the week did not allow them to play dress making tricks with themselves on Sunday; for it I remember rightly the cure was effected in their case by the call for a pen kaife. This was used to loosen the body armor, when a loud explesion took place, followed by a deep sigh and a speedy recovery of the patient. So fashionable was fainting or hysterics in church, that I had a lively remembrance of a young lady who had a weekly attack, and was often carried out by a gentleman in the next pew. As these two were afterwards married, I ap prehend that this was one mode of courtstip. I am only too thankful to think, for the peace of other people, that this method of forcing matrimoney has gone out .- Chambers's Jour Opening and Closing of the Mails.
